SHULTE GRANT FOR THE ARTS & CRAFTS

In 1995, Marc Kasky, then Executive Director of Fort Mason Center, received a telephone call from an attorney representing Mrs. Leta Shulte. Mrs. Shulte was exploring arts organizations she might name in her will. Would Fort Mason Center like to be considered as a possible beneficiary?

Kasky invited Mrs. Shulte to visit Fort Mason Center. He gave her a four-hour tour, including lunch at Greens. Mrs. Shulte was impressed with what she saw, and after the visit Kasky received word that she had decided to make Fort Mason Center the sole beneficiary of her bequest. What had impressed her most about Fort Mason Center was that she loved seeing people of all ages participating in arts and crafts events.

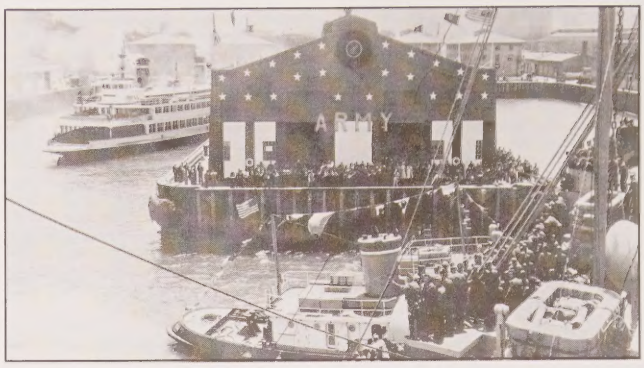
A Nevada native, Leta Shulte came to San Francisco in her early twenties to attend secretarial college. She met and married her husband, a Chevron executive, and lived in San Francisco until his death. She then retired to Nevada. Mrs. Shulte was an independent-minded woman with a deep devotion to arts and crafts. Her personal mode of expression was needlework, but she was a strong supporter of handicrafts of all kinds.

This year the Fort Mason Foundation was the recipient of a bequest in the amount of $1.752 million from the Shulte estate. The terms stated that the bequest be used to "foster, promote, and provide education in the arts and crafts for both children and adults."

The Fort Mason Foundation is pleased to announce the creation of the Shulte Grant for the Arts and Crafts, funded by income from the bequest. Up to $80,000 will be awarded annually for activities at Fort Mason Center and the Herbst International Exhibition Hall in The Presidio that foster the creation, presentation, education, and appreciation of the arts and crafts. Typical grants will be $20,000; no grant will be larger than $40,000. Seventy percent of the award will be allocated to sponsor the rental of an appropriate venue at Fort Mason Center or the Exhibition Hall. Thirty percent of the funds may be used for artist and/or production fees.

The goals of the Shulte Grant are four: to provide a venue for the arts and crafts; to strengthen existing arts institutions, support artists, and launch new cultural endeavors; to educate children and adults in the arts and crafts; and to promote artistic diversity. Nonprofit organizations, individual artists or projects whose participants and producers are fiscally sponsored by a nonprofit are encouraged to apply. The deadline for letters of interest is December 1, 2002. Ten projects will then be invited to submit full proposals. For more information, visit www.fortmason.org/about/news.html.

SAVE AMERICA'S TREASURES GRANT



Fort Mason Historic Piers

Fort Mason Center and the Golden Gate National Recreation Area are pleased to announce the receipt of a $341,000 Save America's Treasures Grant. One of only 80 awarded from 389 applicants, the grant will be used for the preservation of Pier One in anticipation of its conversion to usable space.

Save America's Treasures is a national effort to protect "America's threatened cultural treasures, including historic structures, collections, works of art, maps and journals that document and illuminate the history and culture of the United States."

Established by Executive Order in February 1998, Save America's Treasures was originally founded as the centerpiece of the White House National Millennium Commemoration and as a public/private partnership that included the White House, the National Park Service and the National Trust for Historic Preservation. Dedicated to the preservation and celebration of America's priceless historic legacy, the program works to recognize and rescue the enduring symbols of American tradition that define us as a nation.
In September, the President's Committee on the Arts and the Humanities, the National Park Service, the National Endowment for the Humanities, and the Institute of Museum and Library Services announced the recipients of this year's grants. The selection criteria required that each project be of national significance, demonstrate an urgent preservation need, have an educational or other public benefit, and demonstrate the likely availability of non-federal matching funds.

Filling all of these requirements is Fort Mason Center's Pier One. The Center is part of the Golden Gate National Recreation Area. The piers at this National Historic Landmark have been in use since 1910, when the Army Transport Service moved from the Folsom Street docks to the newly constructed piers. During World War II, they were the point of embarkation to the Pacific Arena for more than 1.5 million troops and 20 million tons of cargo.

The preservation of these significant historical monuments is an ongoing concern, and the Fort Mason Foundation extends its thanks to the Golden Gate National Recreation Area for making this grant possible.

30 YEARS OF FUN & ADVENTURE

ETC

Environmental Traveling Companions is celebrating its 30th anniversary of making the outdoors accessible to all. Three rafting guides founded ETC in 1972 to offer affordable whitewater rafting trips to disadvantaged youth and people with disabilities. Over the years, ETC has expanded its programs to offer sea kayaking, cross-country skiing, and youth leadership school programs.

ETC's mission is to help everyone experience the challenges and beauty of wilderness. ETC adapts its programs to accommodate teens with cancer, individuals with AIDs and other life-threatening illnesses, people with visual or hearing impairments, and individuals with physical, emotional, and developmental disabilities.

Volunteer professional guides lead and organize all of ETC's trips. These guides learn about organizing trips suitable for all participants through ETC's Disability Awareness Training programs. Volunteers with disabilities help run the training programs and make presentations to the guides about specific disabilities.

For those with a thirst for whitewater, ETC offers shorter trips perfect for beginners on the South Fork of the American River in Northern California. Participants can also camp in ETC's new fully accessible campground right on the river's edge. In addition, ETC offers longer expeditions: to the Yampa and Green rivers through Dinosaur National Monument in the American Southwest and to the Klamath River through California's Shasta-Trinity National Forest. ETC's next two-week "Grand Canyon: Ultimate Rafting Adventure" departs in April 2003. All rafting trips take place in spring and summer months.

Paddlers can join ETC's scenic, one-day kayak excursions around San Francisco Bay, or book voyages to Angel Island for an overnight stay in an accessible Victorian house with a wood-burning stove and lots of character. Trip organizers make sure the gear gets there, including wheelchairs and other equipment, via kayak or ferry. ETC also runs one-day and overnight trips to Tomales Bay near Point Reyes National Seashore. Kayaking expeditions occur in spring, summer, and fall.

Winter ski trips head for the cozy cabins and well-groomed cross-country trails at Bear Valley Nordic Center, just north of California's Gold Country.

ETC also offers a variety of benefit events, including the "Angel Island Overnight With Malcolm Margolin" on November 2 and 3, a series of "Full Moon Dinner Paddles" next launching November 16, and the "Sea Kayak Baja: Espiritu Santo Island" trip in spring 2003. Another opportunity to contribute is the 21st Annual Sea Trek Regatta and ETC Adventurers' Auction on October 26 at the SeaTrek Ocean Kayaking Center in Sausalito.

For more information about ETC, call (415) 474-7662 or visit www.etctrips.org.

MODERN FLAIR AT CLAY & GLASS FESTIVAL

HERBST PAVILION

The San Francisco Clay & Glass Festival arrives with a gleaming collection of ceramics and hand-blown glass created by more than 100 notable California craft artists. Holiday shoppers can meet the artists and peruse creative gift ideas ranging from colorful ceramic vases and vessels to luminous glassware and imaginative jewelry designs.

Festival goers can find both decorative and functional work at the show, which is sponsored by the Association of Clay and Glass Artists of California. In addition to Barbara Sebastian's delicate fetish jars in celadon and other shades, the fair showcases Fred Yokel's intriguing stoneware sculptures. Jeannine Niehaus displays her distinctive raku tableware and Charlie Jenkins contributes to the festive atmosphere with hand-blown glass lamps and pitchers in rainbow hues. Laura Zindel's humorous ceramic pieces silkscreened with realistic spiders and insects are also festival highlights.

The Festival comes to Fort Mason Center November 9 and 10, Saturday and Sunday from 10am to 5pm. Admission is $7 for adults, $5 for seniors; children under 12 are admitted free. For information, call (415) 507-9909 or visit www.acga.net.

CELEBRATING THE CREATIVE SPIRIT

FESTIVAL PAVILION

Celebration of Craftswomen honors individual artists and the creative spirit at its 24th annual holiday show and sale. More than 300 leading women artists representing diverse cultural viewpoints display and sell their original, handmade work in a variety of media.

From its origins as a tribute to the Arts and Crafts Movement, Celebration of Craftswomen has evolved into the largest women's fine craft fair in the United States. The show features contemporary and traditional items ranging from hand-thrown porcelain teapots to hand-painted silk garments.

Festival artisans exhibit functional and decorative ceramic and glass objects; sculpted wood and metal works; jewelry crafted with polymer clay, beads, stone, and precious metals; woven, silk, and leather clothing; household furniture and accessories; sculpture, photography, watercolor and oil paintings; and children's toys.

After browsing the fine craft booths, fairgoers can enjoy live music, dance performances, and gourmet food and drink. Craftswomen have also donated works for the festival's Silent Auction and Benefit Raffle, which raise funds for the San Francisco Women's Building, the first women-owned and operated nonprofit female community center in the United States.

Celebration of Craftswomen takes place in the Festival Pavilion November 23, 24, and 30 and December 1, Saturday and Sunday from 10am to 6pm. Admission is $7 for adults, $5 for seniors, free for children under 12. A two-day pass is $10. Parking is available at the Marina Middle School on Bay Street at Webster, with free shuttle service. For information, call (415) 383-3470 or visit www.miramarevents.com.

MAGIC THEATRE

The street made famous by John Steinbeck's 1945 best-seller started life in the 1850s as a wagon-rutted coastal dirt road running from Monterey to the Chinese settlement at Point Alones. Called Ocean View Avenue when Steinbeck lived there in the 1930s, the street and its colorful denizens became the inspiration for one of the Nobel Prize-winner's most popular novels.

John Steinbeck (1902-68) was born in Salinas and grew up in the fertile agricultural Valley near the Pacific Coast, the setting for some of his best fiction. He attended Stanford University (but never graduated), worked as a laborer and journalist in New York City, as a caretaker at Lake Tahoe, and as a fruit picker back in the Salinas Valley. All the time he had been writing. His first three novels went largely unnoticed, but his fourth, Tortilla Flat, a humorous tale of Mexican Americans in Monterey, brought wider recognition. Steinbeck returned to this world of the adventures and misadventures of workers in a California fish-canning town in 1945 with Cannery Row.

The first four chapters of Cannery Row are brought to life by Word for Word, the company that transforms classic and contemporary fiction into performance works for the stage. Word for Word presents works with all of the author's words intact. Founded in 1993 by JoAnne Winter and Susan Harloe, the company has adapted many outstanding literary works to critical and audience acclaim. The company's most recent triumph, "Stories by Tobias Wolfe," was extended twice at the Magic Theatre by popular demand.

Sandra Langsner Crews returns to Word for Word as director of Cannery Row. She previously directed Word for Word productions of Annie Proulx's The Bunchgrass Edge of the World, Barbara Kingsolver's Rose-Johnny, and John Sayle's The Halfway Diner.

Cannery Row premiered October 31, and continues through November 17. For details, see November 1.

HOLIDAY SHOPPING ON THE WILD SIDE

CONFERENCE CENTER

The unique ambiance at Fort Mason Center attracts a distinctive assortment of crafts-people and vendors, especially during the holiday season. Some of the Center's resident organizations also offer great gift ideas not available elsewhere. Admission to all of these sales is free. Several of the sales take place on the same weekends as the larger Celebration of Craftswomen and San Francisco Clay and Glass Festival, making a one-stop shopping expedition a real possibility.

Gift Shop Safari
The Museum of Craft & Folk Art stocks the MOCFA Holiday Gift Shop with a rich variety of handcrafted items from many global regions. Stop by the shop to select memorable gifts, including high-quality, affordable jewelry; boxes and objects crafted from stone, metal, wood, glass, and other materials; ceramics; and fabric, bead, and fiber art. The Museum shop's inventory of one-of-a-kind holiday ornaments, dolls, toys, and stocking stuffers add wit and whimsy to seasonal celebrations. See Galleries page for shop schedule and details.

White Metal Madness
Hi Ho Silver San Francisco brings a fresh shipment of sterling silver jewelry and gifts to Fort Mason Center this November and December. Hi Ho's holiday collection includes ornate bracelets, eye-catching earrings, elegant necklaces, and pins—all emblazoned with a wide range of motifs or gems such as moonstone and lapis lazuli. Ho Ho imports silver creations from Taxco, the center of Mexico's silver industry and home to many artisans and jewelers. Also on sale are hand-colored etchings by Nicolas de Jesus. For details, see November 1.

Bag Some Book Bargains
For those with book lovers on their holiday gift lists, the Friends and Foundation of the San Francisco Public Library's Book Sale is a great opportunity to find literary treasures among the more than 7,000 titles on sale for $1 or less. Choose from paperbacks, hardbacks, fiction, cookbooks, and tomes on travel, biography, gardening, and many other topics. All childrens' books are 50 cents. See November 2.

Texuba Vintage Kimono Show
Choose from a vast array of more than 3,000 vintage Japanese kimonos, textiles, and obi sashes at Texuba's San Francisco Kimono Show in mid-November. Texuba sells kimonos made of silk, rayon, cotton, linen, and synthetic fibers in short and long styles for men, women, and, more rarely, children.

RISD Alumni Arts & Crafts Sale
"Sky" by David Holmes

The fabrics used for kimonos and obis often have woven motifs and symbols, including dragons, koi carp, cranes, and intricate abstract designs. For more information, see November 16.

SF Women Artists Holiday Art Fair
Get a jump on the post-Thanksgiving shopping frenzy by purchasing gifts the weekend before the big feast at this fair. More than 150 artists from San Francisco's oldest nonprofit arts organization display paintings, prints, photography, jewelry, sculpture, fiber art, and other objects for sale. See November 23.

RISD Alumni Holiday Arts & Crafts Sale
More than 30 Bay Area alumni from the Rhode Island School of Design participate in the annual RISD show and sale. RISD has earned a reputation as one of the United States' foremost art and design schools. At the sale, RISD artists market jewelry, ceramics, wearable art, ornaments, home accessories, toys, paintings, drawings, prints, cards, and books. For details, see November 24.

The Guardsmen Tree Sale
Another much-anticipated holiday tradition at Fort Mason Center is The Guardsmen annual sale of Christmas trees, decorations, and wreaths. The Guardsmen is a longstanding San Francisco group dedicated to helping children. The largest indoor tree lot in the Bay Area has many varieties and sizes —from compact tabletop models to towering behemoths for public display. See November 29 for more information.

Great SF Crystal Fair Shines On
On the eve of December, more than 40 vendors at the Crystal Fair light up holiday gift-giving with glittering displays of gems, stones, and more. In addition to crystals, minerals, and jewelry, traders peddle exotic beads from around the world in strands or unstrung. Practitioners of mystical and healing arts are also on hand. See November 30.

MIGRATION PHOTOGRAPHY

Yellow, Papua New Guinea
by Lisa Kristine

CONFERENCE CENTER

Migration Editions announces the publication of documentary photographer Lisa Kristine's A Human Thread, a unique collection of more than 50 stunning images of humanity and cultures around the globe.

"I am keenly interested in how each person explores his or her own existence," says the photographer. "I believe the human form is as engaging and mysterious as the life it leads."

Lisa Kristine, a native San Franciscan whose home is in the City, has traveled extensively in Africa, Asia, the Caribbean, Europe, Latin America, and the Middle East. She spent four years in Asia, living in monasteries and immersing herself in world philosophies and religions. Her passion for new lands and adventures is reflected in her inspiring and evocative images.

A Human Thread is Lisa Kristine's first monograph. The beautifully elegant hardcover book is available for viewing at the reception and may be ordered at 20% off the list price. Also on view and available for order is a limited-edition book and print set. Each set includes a signed book inside a black linen clam-shell case and a selection of one 11" x 14" limited-edition print. The reception and exhibition also include 30 to 50 Ilfochrome prints offered at 10% off the regular price.

The artist's reception is Friday, November 8 from 7 to 10pm in the Marina Room. The exhibition continues on Saturday, November 9 from 10am to 5pm. Admission is free. For more information, visit www.migrationphotography.com

FAMILY WINEMAKERS

FESTIVAL PAVILION

Family Winemakers of California presents its 12th annual tasting, bringing together wineries from all over the state, industry icons, small producers, the old, the new, and everything in between.

Tasting 2002 features more than 340 wineries from Mendocino to Temecula pouring over a thousand different wines. It's a great opportunity to sample varietals from every growing region of California and to meet the vintners and learn first-hand about their product. More than 40 wineries are making their debut this year. For a complete list of participants, visit www.familywinemakers.org.

Family Winemakers of California, founded in 1991, is a nonprofit trade organization representing small, family-owned wineries before the California Legislature and state regulatory agencies. The organization also partners with the American Vintners Association for national and international policy coverage. It is headquartered in Sacramento.

Free parking and shuttle service for Tasting 2002 is available in the Commissary Lot in the Presidio. After 5pm, additional free parking and shuttle service is available at Marina Middle School, Bay at Webster Street. For Presidio directions, visit the FWC Web site.

Tasting 2002 takes place on Wednesday, November 13 from 5:30 to 8pm. Trade and media hours are 3 to 8pm. For more details see November 13.

PASSION FOR DANCE

COWELL THEATER

Three companies sustaining strong commitments to dance and public performance bring their latest creative efforts, including a world premiere, to Fort Mason Center this Fall.

Smuin Ballets/SF "Stabat Mater"

Smuin Ballets/SF
Classic Elton John tunes provide the inspiration for the world premiere of "Come Dance Me A Song." The troupe's earlier foray into popular music, "To The Beatles," generated critical acclaim and numerous repeat performances across the nation. The company's 2002/2003 season opener features pieces set to "Candle In The Wind," "Don't Let The Sun Go Down On Me," "Goodbye Yellow Brick Road," "Tiny Dancer," and other favorites. The program also features "Stabat Mater," a September 11 tribute by founder Michael Smuin expressing bereavement, loss, and hope with music from Dvorak's chorale work of the same name. In addition, the program includes the sensually romantic "Bouquet," danced to Shostakovich compositions. Smuin performances often sell out, so reservations are recommended. For details, see November 8.

Limón Dance Company
The company formed 55 years ago in New York by legendary dancer and choreographer José Limón presents his 1967 masterpiece "Psalm" with a newly commissioned score by Jon Magnussen. Artistic Director Carla Maxwell restaged "Psalm," which Limón envisioned as an expression of the power of community and the human spirit when faced with adversity. The Company's performance also includes a revival of "Invention," originally choreographed in 1949 by Limón's mentor Doris Humphrey, a modern dance pioneer. For more information, see November 25.

Theatre Flamenco
Theatre Flamenco celebrates its 36th home season with "Ritmo Flamenco," a performance showcasing the many complex rhythms of the flamenco tradition. Guest choreographer Carola Zertuche arranged a bulerias piece involving the entire company with short solos for each dancer. Theatre Flamenco's Artistic Director Miguel Santos choreographed "Fiesta Andaluza," a fiesta scene featuring extensive castanet work and folk dances from the region around Sevilla, including sevillanas, tangillo, verdiales, and fandangos. The title piece features women performing intricate dance patterns to the music of tientos, an intensely emotional flamenco song, or cante grande. For more information, see November 29.

REAL HOT RODS

SAN FRANCISCO MUSEUM OF MODERN ART ARTISTS GALLERY

From time to time the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art Artists Gallery hosts special presentations reflecting the rich creative and cultural diversity of the Bay Area. Such an event is the two-part exhibition "Real Hot Rods by Vern Tardel" and "Photographs by Peter Vincent and David Perry." Organized by guest curator Phil Linhares, the show features fantastic custom hot rods complemented by a photographic display chronicling and celebrating this unique facet of California culture. The exhibition also includes an auto shop tableau with authentic materials and tools created by sculptor/installation artist Michael C. McMillen.

"Real Hot Rods" presents nine custom cars created by 30-year hot-rod enthusiast Vern Tardel. Included is an historic flathead V-8 powered Rambler station wagon, a veteran of land-speed record trials on the Bonneville Salt Flats. Also in the exhibition is a selection of roadsters, coupes, and a newly rebuilt 1934 Ford four-door sedan hot rod, featuring a suicide front end (the body is cantilevered over the frame and axle) and matching suicide doors (the doors open front to back).

Vern Tardel has been building hot rods since his teenage years, and still drives the 1932 roadster that he built then. He continues to produce real hot rods—steel-bodied old Fords with flathead V-8 engines—in his rural Santa Rosa shop. Over the course of 30 years he has built dozens of hot rod roadsters, coupes, sedans, and pickups plus hundreds of flathead V-8s for street cars and racers alike.

Automotive photographer Peter Vincent lives and works in Moscow, Idaho, and follows western automotive events from Southern California to Washington State. His photographs appear in Rodders Journal, American Rodder, Hop Up, Street Rodder, and Rod & Custom. His first book, Hot Rod: An American Original, is a best-seller.

David Perry has published Hot Rod and Bordertown through Chronicle Books, and serves as Art Chief for Garage magazine. He drives a Vern Tardel-built 1929 Ford roadster.

Guest curator Linhares has been a hot-rod enthusiast since high school. He served as co-curator, with Michael Dobrin, for the 1996 exhibition "Hot Rods and Customs: The Men and Machines of California's Car Culture" at the Oakland Museum. He is Chief Curator of Art at the Oakland Museum.

"Real Hot Rods" opens November 6 and continues through December 20. The opening reception is November 6 from 5:30 to 7:30pm. Because of space limitations, five of the cars are exhibited during November, and four in December. For more information about the SFMOMA Artists Gallery, call (415) 441-4777 or visit www.sfmoma.org.

NOCTURNES

MAIN OFFICE LOBBY

Tim Baskerville has been taking night photographs for over 20 years. His fascination with the genre began when he was working two jobs (one as a cab driver on the graveyard shift) and found that the only time he had for photography was at night. His first night images were taken without the aid of a tripod—he propped his camera on the roof or hood of a nearby car—as he set out to capture the elusive lights and reflections that fascinated him as he drove around the City.

What began as a mild interest became Baskerville's passion. He has been actively involved with night photography since those first experiments 20 years ago. He has taught workshops on the subject for more than a decade, the last four years in partnership with architectural/industrial photographer Lance Keimig. "Nocturnes: Fort Mason & Environs" is the latest in a series of nocturne exhibits focusing on different areas of the city. The exhibit includes work by Baskerville and Keimig, by many of their students, and by fellow night photography aficionados, both beginner and advanced.

Included in the exhibition are Peter Amendt, Ruth Astle, Marc Babsin, Jeanne Brophy, Rebecca Chang, Marie Favorini, Susanne Friedrich, Alex Geidt, Ira Glick, Randy Gunning, Ed Hamilton, Carol Henry, Mark Interrante, Lance Keimig, Lynn Mandel, Adam Moore, James O'Brien, C. Sarnoff, Ron Saunders, Karen Schreiber, Ralph Singer, Paul Snowdon, Howie Spielman, Betty Walker, and Lisa Wisniewski.

"Nocturnes: Fort Mason & Environs" opened on October 7 and continues through December 28. An artists' reception is Wednesday, November 6 from 5:30 to 7:30pm. Admission is FREE. See Galleries listing for details or visit www.thenocturens.com/fortmason.htm.

FORT MASON CENTER

LOOKING FOR AN EVENT SPACE?

Fort Mason Center has a wide variety of attractive and affordable venues available for workshops, conferences, seminars, performances, and special events.

Our facilities—the Conference Center, Firehouse, Cowell Theater, Herbst and Festival Pavilions, and the meeting and activity rooms—are able to accommodate groups from 5 to 5,000.

Whether you are planning a large conference or trade show, a meeting or a gala, Fort Mason Center's spectacular setting and reasonable rental rates make it an outstanding location for all events and activities.

Our experienced staff accommodates your every need with an eye for detail and an attitude of excellence in a personal and professional manner.

The recently renovated Conference Center and Firehouse feature state of the art lighting, MechoShades, wall to wall carpeting, completely remodeled restrooms and updated heating systems. Both spaces command incredible views of San Francisco Bay, and have access to an outdoor patio area. With breakout rooms and capacities from 20 to 300, the Conference Center and Firehouse are ideal for your next event.

The Herbst and Festival Pavilions are major exhibit and special-event column-free facilities for up to 5,000 people. The Pavilions, 30,000 and 50,000 square feet respectively, also are available for trade shows, corporate receptions, and large fund-raising events.

The Cowell Theater, with seating for 437, is fully equipped with sound and lighting systems, dressing rooms, and a projection-/control booth. Situated at the north end of the Herbst Pavilion, with spectacular views of San Francisco Bay and the Golden Gate Bridge from the lobby area, the theater is suitable for performances, film showings, press conferences, lectures, meetings and seminars.

The ten Meeting and Activity Rooms and the Gatehouse are located throughout the campus and can accommodate from 5 to 100 participants at very reasonable rates. These spaces are ideal for meetings, classes, rehearsals, retreats and seminars, or as breakout rooms for activities in other Fort Mason Center facilities.

There is free parking on site and along the beautiful Marina Green, with easy accessibility from all directions. MUNI comes right to our front door.

Located between the Golden Gate Bridge and Fisherman's Wharf on San Francisco's northern waterfront, Fort Mason Center is a unique blend of entertainment and education, open day and night, year-round. A National Historic Landmark and part of the Golden Gate National Recreation Area, it's the setting for more than 15,000 events each year.

The Herbst International Exhibition Hall, located in the Presidio of San Francisco, has shown some of the city's premier exhibits, including the Smithsonian Institution's "Ocean Planet" and "European Instruments of Torture" from the Criminal Medieval Museum of San Gimignano, Italy. Standing at the top of the Presidio's historic Main Post, the Exhibition Hall has approximately 8,000 square feet of space and features climate control; secure storage, a ticket office, gift shop, and food service area. The Herbst International Exhibition Hall, a project of the Fort Mason Foundation, attracts culturally diverse exhibits and events that reflect the Foundation's commitment to the community.

Visit our web site, www.fortmason.org, to look at floorplans of the rental spaces. Call (415) 441-3400 for information, Monday through Saturday, from 9am to 5pm, or e-mail sales@fortmason.org.
